Junia, Barristan, Dismas, Reynauld

Adam - Earth man Alan - Noble, handsome Arnold - Eagle power Bernard - Brave bear Charles - Free man David - Beloved friend Edmund - Rich protector Edward - Wealthy guard Geoffrey - God's peace Gilbert - Bright pledge Giles - Young goat Gregory - Watchful, alert Henry - Ruler of home Hugh - Mind, spirit Humphrey - Peaceful warrior John - God is gracious Julian - Youthful, soft-bearded Laurence - Laurel-crowned Luke - Light giver Martin - Of Mars Matthew - Gift of God Nicholas - Victory of people Oliver - Olive tree Peter - Solid rock Philip - Horse lover Ralph - Wolf counsel Richard - Brave ruler Robert - Bright fame Roger - Famous spear Simon - He has heard Stephen - Crown, garland Thomas - Twin brother Walter - Army ruler William - Resolute protector

Alaric, Brunhild, Cadadr, Chindasuinth, Clovis, Fettgesicht, Genseric, Guntram, Hilderic, Odoacer, Sigurd Amaury, Baudouin, Bratwurst, Charlemagne, Chonkus, Gautier, Gui, Olivier, Renaud, Roland, Tancred, Yvain Bermudo, Fernan, Girthquake, Inigo, Pelayo, Ramiro, Rodrigo, Sancho, Sauerkraut, Schnitzel, Suero, Ursus Barak, Benaiah, Caleb, Elijah, Gideon, Hazael, Jehu, Josiah, Nimrod, Raynald, Samson, Theodoric, Umbra Aethelweard, Aether, Anansi, Arachne, Astral, Eclipse, Erebos, Gorgon, Malakor, Nebula, Nyx, Obsidian Blight, Clotho, Loom, Miasma, Netherweave, Scourge, Skein, Tarantis, Textrix, Toxin, Vipera, Vortex Aegis, Anvil, Arktos, Artio, Bastion, Beowulf, Bjorn, Bruin, Bulwark, Grizz, Goliath, Iorek, Ragnar, Zephyr Barter, Broker, Echo, Gore, Guineas, Kodiak, Maul, Mercator, Mercury, Sterling, Sunder, Torstein, Thunderpaw

Aldous - Old, wise Bardolf - Ax wolf Bartholomew - Furrow son Benedict - Blessed one Cuthbert - Famous brightness Godwin - Good friend Guy - Guide, leader Hamond - Home protection Ivon - Yew archer Jasper - Treasurer king Lambert - Bright land Osric - Divine ruler Piers - Stone, rock Rauf - Wise wolf Roland - Famous land Theobald - Bold people Wymond - Battle protector

Agnes - Pure, chaste Alice - Noble type Amice - Friendship, love Annis - Pure lamb Beatrice - Joy bringer Cecily - Blind to envy Clarice - Bright, clear Constance - Constant, firm Edith - Wealth battle

Adelina - Sweet noble Avice - Refuged bird Beatrix - Voyager, traveler Cassandra - Man entangler Eglantine - Sweetbriar needle Elysant - Truly noble Emmeline - Hardworking ruler Geva - Gift giver Godiva - God's gift Hawise - Battle wide Idonea - Active, fit Isolda - Ice ruler Linota - Small flaxen Melisende - Strong worker Muriel - Bright sea Petronilla - Little rock Rohesia - Rose horse Sanchia - Sacred, holy

Baker - Bread maker Carter - Cart driver Cooper - Barrel maker Fletcher - Arrow maker Miller - Grain grinder Smith - Metal worker Taylor - Cloth cutter Turner - Lathe worker Walker - Cloth fuller Wright - Skilled builder

Benedict - Means "blessed" - feels traditional yet distinct Theobald - Means "bold people" - sounds powerful and authoritative Gervase - An ancient Norman-

English name meaning “spear servant” Sampson - Means “sun” - great for a paladin of a solar deity Amand - Means “worthy of love” - fits a compassionate protector Nehemiah - An Old Testament name meaning “comforted by God”

Bardolf - Means “ax wolf” - sounds rugged and heavy-armored Wymond - Means “battle protector” - a perfect literal meaning Osric - An Anglo-Saxon name meaning “divine ruler Piers - The medieval English form of Peter, meaning”solid rock Fulke - A powerful Norman name meaning “people’s army Hamon - Means”home protection” - ideal for a defender of the realm

Eustace - Means “fruitful” or “steadfast” - sounds aristocratic Gawain - Classic Arthurian name meaning “may hawk” Everard - Means “brave boar” - implies immense resilience Jocelyn - Historically a male name in medieval England, meaning “Goth” Ranulph - A sharp, aristocratic name meaning “shield wolf” Valerius - A Roman-derived name meaning “to be strong”

Hawise - Means “battle wide” - sounds incredibly fierce Idonea - Means “active and fit” - perfect for an agile crusader Isolda - Means “ice ruler” - fits a stern, unyielding judge Rohesia - Means “famous shield” - highly thematic for a protector Melisende - Means “strong worker” - sounds regal yet capable Sanchia - A rare medieval name meaning “sacred” or “holy”

De Vane - Meaning “godly” or “pious” Ironshield - A literal, heavy fantasy-medieval surname Godwin - Meaning “good friend” or “friend of God Saint-Clair - Meaning”holy light Valiant - An authentic medieval nickname turned surname Vavasour - A medieval term for a feudal vassal just below a baron

Charlemagne - Named after the great emperor - hilarious for a stubborn donkey Bucephalus - The name of Alexander the Great’s legendary warhorse Galahad - A pure and noble knight name - highly ironic for a donkey that rolls in the mud Beowulf - Sounds fierce and epic, contrasting perfectly with a donkey’s usual demeanor

Bayard - A famous magical horse from medieval lore, known for blind leaps Dun - A traditional medieval English term for a dull brown horse or donkey Ball - A very common medieval pet name for animals with a white spot or streak on their face Brock - An old English term for a badger, but used for sturdy, gray-coated work animals Gilbert - Often shortened to “Gib,” this was a highly popular animal name in the Middle Ages

Bramble - Rough, prickly, and thrives in harsh conditions, just like a donkey Thistle - Named after a donkey’s absolute favorite food to forage Grime - An old northern English name - perfect if the donkey is always dirty Pestle - Heavy, blunt, and grinds things down - fits a slow, unstoppable animal Flint - Hard, grey, and strikes sparks when stubborn

Silenus - In mythology, this tutor of Dionysus rode a donkey and was known for wisdom and drunkenness Midas - The king who was cursed with donkey ears - a clever, subtle nod Grimbald - An old Germanic/English name meaning “fierce power” Reynard - Borrowed from the medieval trickster fox tales, giving the donkey a sly personality

Solisbury - A blend of Solis (sun) and Bury (fortress) - feels bright and radiant Saint-Viran - A rare French-Norman style estate name that sounds pious and ancient Lumen-Hold - A striking name meaning a stronghold of holy or pure light Merifall - Meaning a pleasant, blessed valley or waterfall - sounds peaceful Aethelgard - An Anglo-Saxon style name meaning “noble enclosure”

Hawkspire - Sharp, vertical, and commanding a view of the entire realm Cranemount - Named after the elegant but sharp medieval bird - sounds aristocratic Rook-Haven - A safe harbor built into dark, jagged rocks where rooks nest Grey-Gallows - A stark, intimidating name for a castle built on a sheer cliff Gryphon-Crag - Mythological and proud - perfect for a line of high-born knights

Iron-Spur - Sharp, martial, and aggressive - implies a history of cavalry warfare Bramble-Gate - Sounds tangled, ancient, and highly defensive against intruders Flint-Keep - Made of hard, dark grey flint stone - unyielding to siege engines Gyr-Hold - Named after the Gyrfalcon, the largest and most prized medieval hunting falcon Dun-Moor - A heavy, earthy Anglo-Saxon estate surrounded by misty, rolling hills

Wyvern-Chime - Named after a legend where the castle bells ring when danger approaches Gold-Ear - A highly specific, secret nod to Midas the Fifth and his donkey lineage Amice-End - Named after the medieval word for friendship - sounds like a peaceful sanctuary Thorn-Sovereign - A regal but dangerous name, implying a beautiful but sharp estate Whisper-Wall - A castle famous for acoustic anomalies where the wind sounds like voices

Aeturnus - Means “eternal” or “timeless Caelum - Means”the sky” or “the heavens Horologius - Derived from the keeper of hours and time Sidereus - Means”starry” or “of the constellations”

Ignis - The literal Latin word for “fire” Fulminis - Means “of thunder” or “lightning bolt” Tempestas - Means “storm” or “tempest” Volcanus - Named after the Roman god of fire and volcanoes Hiems - Means “winter” or “frozen frost”

Tenebris - Means “darkness” or “shadows” Occultus - Means “hidden,” “secret,” or “the unseen” Umbrus - Derived from umbra, meaning a ghost, phantom, or shade Stygius - Referring to the River Styx and the underworld Mysterium - Simple but powerful, meaning “a secret rite” or “mystery”

Augur - An ancient Roman priest who interpreted the will of the gods Magnus - Means “the great” - a classic, powerful suffix for a wizard Sapientia - Derived from the Latin word for wisdom Pontifex - Meaning “bridge-builder,” historically used for high-ranking priests Veritas - Means “truth” - great for a wizard who sees through illusions

Octavius - A classic Roman name that literally means “The Eighth” Octo - The direct Latin word for “Eight”

Vectis - Means “lever” or “force” - perfect for lifting massive objects with the mind Motus - The literal Latin word for “movement” or “motion” Gravitas - Means “weight” or “heavy pressure” - fits a mage who manipulates gravity Levitas - Means “lightness” - ideal for a wizard who floats or makes objects weightless Vinculum - Means “bond” or “fetter” - implies tethering items together with kinetic energy Inertius - Derived from inertia, controlling the resistance of objects to movement

Ignis - The classic Latin word for “fire” or “flame” Tellus - Named after the ancient Roman goddess of the Earth and soil Anemius - Derived from the Greek/Latin roots for “wind” and “breath” Flumen - Means “river” or “flowing water” - fits a hydro-mage Hiems - Means “winter” or “deep frost” Turbine - Means “whirlwind” or “vortex”

Magister Octavius - A grand title meaning “The Eighth Master” Vectis-Ignis - Literally “Kinetic Fire”

Augur - An ancient title for a priest who interprets signs and magic Caelum - Means “the sky” or “the heavens”

Ignis Motus (Moving Fire)

Arx Levitas - “The Floating Citadel” - Perfect for a telekinesis master whose castle towers literally hover above the ground Aetheria - “The Sky Reach” - A grand estate built high up in the clouds, closer to cosmic and elemental forces Domus Ignis - “The House of Fire” - A dramatic upgrade to just “House,” perfect if your estate sits near a volcano or burning forge Vectis Hold - “The Kinetic Stronghold” - A fortress where the walls themselves can be moved and shifted by your mind Solarium - “The Sun Spire” - A massive, glass-and-stone tower designed to harness the raw power of light and storms Octavia Manor - “The Eighth Estate” - If you choose the name Octavius, this gives you a perfect matching family estate